PROFESSIONALIZATION WORKSHOP

APPLYING TO GRADUATE SCHOOL

This session will be geared toward undergraduate students who are contemplating graduate school (both MA and PhD). The session will feature panelists who have completed a master's program, are current doctoral students, or are faculty who are at graduate degree granting institutions, and others who can help to demystify the graduate school application process. Attendees will have the opportunity to submit questions before the panel that presenters will take into consideration during the workshop.

PANELISTS

Patricia Miramontes, MA Student CSULA, Department of Chicana(o) and Latina(o) Studies

Auna Castellon-Powell, College Preparation Coach at The Native American Youth and Family Center Family Center

Lucy Delgado, Program Coordinator in Student Diversity & Inclusion, University of Delaware
